RE: Legal Opinion Regarding UM Community Relations CDate:

Date: October 2, 2012

I would advise committee members who are University students to file financial disclosure forms if they are 18 years old or older. The rationale is that only minors should be shown the benefit of limited legal responsibilities and greater legal protections. See INQ 10-123, to Pine Crest Village Clerk Guido Inguanzo, Jr.

If the University students qualify as "dependent students" claimed by their parents on IRS filings, the students would simply file the County Source of Income Statement indicating their personal income, if any, or "zero" if none. Assets and liabilities are not listed on the County form. Students would not be required to submit information about their parents' finances.

Subject: Opinion re UM Community Relations Committee

Hello Craig,

was good to see you last week at the Municipal Attorneys' Luncheon.

As we discussed, before I respond to Walter Foeman about financial disclosure requirements for students serving on the Coral Gables University of Miami Community Relations Committee, I'd like to hear if you concur.

I would advise committee members who are University students to file financial disclosure forms if they are 18 years old or older. The rationale is that only minors should be shown the benefit of limited legal responsibilities and greater legal protections. See INQ 10-123, to Pine Crest Village Clerk Guido Inguanzo, Jr.

If the University students qualify as "dependent students" claimed by their parents on IRS filings, the students would simply file the County Source of Income Statement indicating their personal income, if any, or "zero" if none. Assets and liabilities are not listed on the County form. Students would not be required to submit information about their parents' finances.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

VICTORIA FRIGO, STAFF ATTORNEY
